

Infinite

The Original

The ways for men to wear The Original are almost infinite. Here are just a few.

Single Twist

Wear it long by just looping the scarf around your neck. Try putting the widest part of the scarf at the back of your neck. This hides the seam and creates the effect of a collar.

The scarf can be styled inside or outside the shirt or jacket collar, or worn over a t-shirt or sweater.

It can be pinned with a tie pin for a more refined and tailored look.

Double Twist

Starting with the single loop referred to above, twist the scarf into a figure 8 at the front and wrap this loop around your neck again to form a double loop.

The scarf can be worn inside or outside your collar, or loose around a t-shirt or sweater.

This probably is the most relaxed and most popular way for men to wear their Original Infinite.

Cravat

You can wear your Infinite as a cravat (à la Matt Preston).

Place the narrow end of the loop around your neck and inside the collar. Twist the scarf at the throat and then tuck the remainder of the scarf through the inside of the loop around your neck. Arrange the wide part of the scarf in the front and tuck it into the front of your shirt or collar. You can add a pin or tiepin if you wish to secure the fold.

Modern Cravat

You can create a more modern take on the cravat by folding the scarf in half longways with the wide section at one end and the narrow section at the other. Place the middle of the scarf behind your neck and pull the two ends toward the front. Fold the narrow end over the wide end and secure with a pin or and tuck the lower edges under your shirt.

Simple Knot

With the Infinity in a long loop, gather together the bottom and tie into an overhand knot.

Position the knot higher or lower on the scarf to suit your outfit.

We design two other Infinity styles particularly suitable for men:

- Mr Darcy, a long wrap scarf made from four recovered ties and modelled on the Victorian tie
- Regency, a single tie folded, wrapped and pinned at the throat.

We also custom make Infinities, from your own ties or a selection we always have on hand. Choose you patterns. Choose your colours. Create your own unique, one-off design.
